

We cover the world of manufacturing across all its sectors, sharing stories that impact your business, providing news, in-depth analysis and expert commentary.

Alain Ouzilleau, owner of Groupe Cabico, spent millions upgrading his two factories in Quebec and Ontario into state-of-the-art facilities shipping around ...

Trump hit the industry with 25 per cent tariffs in October but paused a promised increase of 30 per cent for furniture and 50 per cent for cabinets and vanities that was set to take effect this...

A New Brunswick cabinet manufacturer is glad the United States is delaying a tariff increase.

Many manufacturers provide both cabinetry and millwork to their US clients. The US tariffs are placing tremendous strain on those companies who export to the US and the long term impact ...

Specifically with respect to cabinetry, CKCA requests that the federal housing program be required to source its cabinetry from Canadian companies where the products are manufactured ...

Alain Ouzilleau, owner of Groupe Cabico, spent millions upgrading his two factories in Quebec and Ontario into state-of-the-art facilities shipping around $100-million worth of high-end ...

According to the Canadian Kitchen Cabinet Association (CKCA), roughly 25 per cent of industry staff across the country were laid off last year because of the tariff strain.

Many manufacturers provide both cabinetry and millwork to their US clients. The US tariffs are placing tremendous strain on those ...

Glenwood Kitchen President James McKenna on the concerns he has for his business as Canadians brace for U.S. tariffs on wood products.

But hundreds of other Canadian cabinet and furniture makers also stand to lose their key export business, with limited ability to expand in a crowded domestic market.

The group said that Canadian kitchen cabinet manufacturers employ more than 25,000, generate more than $4.7 billion in annual revenue, and have been manufacturing in Canada for more ...

Web: <https://cgaroofing.co.za>